Miss World Japan to Visit Assam

Priyanka Yoshikawa, Miss World Japan 2016, will be visiting Assam to participate in the Eastern Himalayan Naturenomics Forum-2017 which will be held on November 2 and 3.

Priyanka is a certified elephant trainer and wants to work for the well-being of elephants. She will be speaking about community conservation and living in harmony with nature. She hopes to foster eco-elephant tourism between India, Japan and in Asia through her support to the cause.

In addition to that, she is also the brand ambassador for ‘Me for the World’ charity savings bank box. It is an initiative that encourages children to save and give back to global communities. As part of her visit, she will also be visiting schools to interact with children.
